We Need Your Help!

It is hard for a non-profit to get their news out. Especially if they are conscious of keeping overhead costs very low.

So we are asking for your assistance.

1. Please forward this email to at least 5 of your contacts who would be interested in the amazing work our grant recipients are doing. If they like what they see, they can opt in to receive our bi-monthly emails. There is a "Forward to a Friend" button at the top of the email.
2. Please visit our Facebook page and share at least 1 of our posts with your Friends.
3. Today tell someone about the Leo Buscaglia Foundation. Put love and good news out to the world!

Thank you!

Keri S. Botello
President, Leo Buscaglia Foundation

Angelica Center for Arts and Music (ACAM)

Angelica Center for Arts and Music (ACAM) received a grant for their 2016 Spring Session. The mission of ACAM, a community based arts education organization, is to nurture and mentor at-risk youth in the arts in the greater Pico-Union neighborhood. ACAM seeks to empower youth, build self confidence and self-esteem by developing their creative talents and honing their skills in music, theatre and dance. They are under the fiscal sponsorship of the New City Parish.

ACAM helps foster the spirit of giving by asking parents to volunteer at least 4 hours during a session. Parents prepare and serve daily snacks, celebrate birthdays, help with family night event as announcers and vendors, create and install decorations, and cleanup. For concerts, parents collect donations and help with auditorium setup and breakdown. This is a concept they model from the top down even the organization president helps with keeping supply rooms organized. ACAM also received a grant from the Leo Buscaglia Foundation in 2013.

The Art of Yoga Project

The Art of Yoga Project received a grant to support their programming at sites throughout the San Francisco Bay Area and will cover teacher salaries as well as go towards purchasing supplies for the classes. The mission of the Art of Yoga Project is to lead at-risk, exploited and incarcerated teen girls involved in the California juvenile justice system toward accountability to self, others and community by providing practical tools to effect behavioral change.

They send specially trained yoga teachers and art educators into the system to teach a gender-responsive intervention program to promote girls' self-awareness, self-respect and self-control. Several participants in the program have come back to be a teacher at AYP. One young lady after being a participant in the AYP program left the detention facility she was in, studied to receive her high school and college diploma, and went on to become a probation officer to other girls like she once was. The Art of Yoga Project also received a grant from the Leo Buscaglia Foundation in 2014.
