Friends of Mark Twain Middle School

Friends of Mark Twain Middle School received a grant to support the Executive Director’s salary for their Seeds to Plate Program. This will allow the Executive Director to work full time to expand the program to other schools while continuing their efforts at Mark Twain Middle School (MTMS). The mission of the Friends of Mark Twain Middle School is to enhance and support the programs and facilities at MTMS. This volunteer organization is comprised of parents, legal guardians, school staff and faculty and community members. One of their programs is Seeds to Plate, a garden based education program currently serving approximately 750 students.

Friends of Mark Twain Middle School has made opportunities for parents to volunteer where they otherwise felt uncomfortable. The seed to plate program has also made it available for teachers to work together and coordinate their lessons on the same topics to help English learning students better grasp the what they are being taught across the board.
